KEY INDIVIDUALS

TSARINA ALEXANDRA (1872–1918)
- Governed Russia in tsar’s absence between September 1915 and February 1917
- Regarded by some as traitor due to German heritage
- Scandalous relationship with Rasputin
- Constantly appointed and dismissed ministers

ALEXANDER KERENSKY (1881–1970)
- Elected to the Fourth Duma as a member of the Trudoviks (a faction of the SR party)
- One of the founding members of the Provisional Government
- War Minister of Provisional Government from June 1917, launched disastrous June Offensive
- Prime Minister of Provisional Government from July 1917
- Humiliated by Kornilov Affair
- Triggered October Revolution by attempting to close Bolshevik newspapers

VLADIMIR LENIN (1870–1924)
- Founding member of the Russian Social Democratic Labour Party in 1898
- Authored ‘What is to be Done?’ (1902), which described the need for a conspiratorial, professional revolutionary party to serve as a ‘vanguard’ for the proletarian revolution
- Split the Social Democratic (SD) Party in 1903 – assumed leadership of the Bolshevik faction
- Refused to cooperate with Provisional Government in 1917; accused other socialists of being traitors to the people; established Bolsheviks as credible alternative source of leadership
- Devised simple revolutionary program in April Theses, promising immediate solutions of ‘Peace, Bread, Land!’ and demanding ‘All Power to the Soviets!’
- Convinced Bolsheviks to lead a coup d’état to overthrow the Provisional Government
- Declared the creation of a Soviet Government on 26 October 1917

TSAR NICHOLAS II (1868–1918)
- Stubbornly committed to the concept of autocracy; proved a poor and unresponsive leader during a time of crisis
- Promised democratic reforms in October Manifesto but failed to deliver them
- Failed to provide leadership during crisis of World War I, instead entrusting authority to his unpopular wife

ALEXANDER KERENSKY (1881–1970)
- Elected to the Fourth Duma as a member of the Trudoviks (a faction of the SR party)
- One of the founding members of the Provisional Government
- War Minister of Provisional Government from June 1917, launched disastrous June Offensive
- Prime Minister of Provisional Government from July 1917
- Humiliated by Kornilov Affair
- Triggered October Revolution by attempting to close Bolshevik newspapers

GRIGORI RASPUTIN (1869–1916)
- Mystic and healer summoned to attend to the tsar’s haemophiliac son, Alexei, in 1908
- Became deeply entwined with the Romanov family
- Exercised great influence on Tsarina Alexandra and state affairs while Tsar Nicholas was away commanding Russian forces in WWI
- Murdered by extremist conservatives, via poison, gunshot and drowning, in 1916

PYOTR STOLYPIN (1862–1911)
- Prime Minister of Russia from 1906–11
- Helped regime recover after 1905 Revolution
- ‘Suppression first, and then and only then, reform’
- Disenfranchised workers and peasants in 1907 electoral laws to ensure the election of a cooperative Duma

SERGEI WITTE (1849–1915)
- Prime minister of Russia from 1905–06
- Encouraged tsar to issue October Manifesto of 1905 and opposed Russia’s entry into WWI
- As minister of finance (1892–1903), oversaw rapid industrialisation and attracted foreign investment
- Helped tsar to repress protests and mutinies in 1905–06

LEON TROTSKY (1879–1940)
- Founding member of the Russian Social Democratic Labour Party; sided with the Menshevik faction in the 1903 split; joined Bolshevik party in June 1917
- A charismatic public speaker; became public face of the Bolshevik party in late 1917
- Elected Chairman of the Petrograd Soviet and the Military Revolutionary Committee
- Planned and executed the coup d’état which overthrew the Provisional Government

LEON TROTSKY (1879–1940)
- Founding member of the Russian Social Democratic Labour Party; sided with the Menshevik faction in the 1903 split; joined Bolshevik party in June 1917
- A charismatic public speaker; became public face of the Bolshevik party in late 1917
- Elected Chairman of the Petrograd Soviet and the Military Revolutionary Committee
- Planned and executed the coup d’état which overthrew the Provisional Government

Write a sentence summarising the role of each key individual in the revolution.
KEY MOVEMENTS

WORKER PROTESTS
- Workers faced recession, poor conditions, low wages
- Industrial strikes in major cities from January 1905
- Workers and others petitioned the tsar on Bloody Sunday 1905
- Petrograd Soviet of Workers’ and Soldiers’ Deputies backed Bolsheviks after Dual Authority with the Provisional Government failed

PEASANT UPRISINGS
- Under tsar, feudalism caused inequality and food shortages
- Many peasants saw February Revolution as a way to gain land
- Provisional Government’s delay in redistributing land angered peasants
- Peasants a key source of support for October Revolution

SAILOR MUTINIES
- Battleship Potemkin mutiny in June 1905 launched the revolutionary era
- Sailors (Kronstadt, Baltic Fleet) killed seventy-five officers in February 1917
- Around 10,000 sailors turned against the Provisional Government

SOCIALIST REVOLUTIONARY PARTY (SRs)
- A socialist political party established in 1902
- Adhered to revolutionary populism
- Demanded redistribution of land from the gentry to the peasantry
- Supported by Russian peasantry
- Initially endorsed terrorism, but evolved into a legal political party after the 1905 Revolution
- In conjunction with the Menshevik party, controlled the Second Duma
- After February Revolution, offered limited support for WWI
- After the February Revolution, the only major party to demand Russia withdraw from WWI, and only major party to demand a Soviet government
- Controlled the Petrograd Soviet from September 1917 onwards
- Overthrew the Provisional Government in a coup d’état in October 1917

BOLSHEVIKS
- Socialist political party which developed out of the 1903 split of the Social Democratic Party
- Adhered to Vladimir Lenin’s unorthodox interpretation of Marxist theory (Marxism-Leninism)
- Sought to bring about a socialist revolution by educating and leading the proletariat
- Guided by the Leninist principles of democratic centralism (only the leadership entitled to vote) and the ‘vanguard’ (since the masses were ignorant, they must be led by professional revolutionary cadres)
- Initially small, but gained mass support from workers and soldiers after April 1917
- After the February Revolution, the only major party to demand Russia withdraw from WWI, and only major party to demand a Soviet government
- Controlled the Petrograd Soviet from September 1917 onwards
- Overthrew the Provisional Government in a coup d’état in October 1917

MENSHEVIKS
- Socialist political party which developed out of the 1903 split of the Social Democratic Party (SDs)
- Adhered to Orthodox Marxist political theory
- Supported by the industrial working class in Russian cities
- Organised trade unions and attempted to improve rights of workers through gradual reform
- In coalition with the SR party, controlled the Second Duma
- After February Revolution, offered limited support for WWI
- In coalition with the SR party, controlled the Petrograd Soviet from March–September 1917

UNION OF UNIONS
- A liberal political club formed in May 1905 in response to the outrage after Bloody Sunday
- Critical of tsarist autocracy, adopted slogan ‘We can no longer live like this!’
- Demanded civil rights, elections based on a universal franchise, and a legislative Duma
- Called for nationwide general strike in October 1905
- Successfully convinced tsar to issue October Manifesto, which promised democratic reforms

SOLDIER MUTINIES
- Russian soldiers suffered heavy losses in WWI
- Petrograd Garrison mutinied against tsar in February 1917, created Petrograd Soviet
- Order No.1: soldiers need Petrograd Soviet approval before obeying government
- Mass desertions in the June Offensive crippled the Provisional Government

KADET PARTY (CONSTITUTIONAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY)
- A liberal political party established in October 1905
- Supported by the middle class and reformist members of the gentry
- Demanded constitutional limits on tsar’s authority in First Duma
- Formed the Progressive Bloc in 1915, after key Russian defeats in WWI
- Formed the Provisional Government in February Revolution and controlled it until late 1917
- After the February Revolution, called for continuation of the war effort and a new Constituent Assembly

OCTOBREST PARTY (UNION OF 17 OCTOBER)
- A conservative political party established in October 1905
- Largely supportive of the principles of Russian nationalism and Tsarist autocracy
- Supported by industrialists and nobility
- Dominated the Third and Fourth Dumas
- Withdrew its support from the tsarist regime from 1915 due to its poor management of WWI

CAUSES OF REVOLUTION: 1905 REVOLUTION

VIEWPOINT

Leon Trotsky1905 enhanced the class consciousness of Russian workers and peasants, giving them experience they would use in 1917.‘The events of 1905 were a prologue to the two revolutions of 1917, that of February and that of October.’

Stephen SmithAfter 1905, Russians no longer saw the tsar as a benevolent ruler – this would enable more extreme revolutionary action in 1917.‘The 1905 revolution had destroyed the people’s loyalty to their “little father” the tsar.’

Orlando FigesWhile it failed to bring about change, the 1905 revolution increased the organisation and assertiveness of Russians in seeking change.‘Although the regime succeeded in restoring order, it could not hope to put the clock back. 1905 changed society for good.’

Richard PipesThe 1905 revolution showed that Russian society contained fatal divisions which tsardom couldn’t contain.‘The country was boiling over from anger, envy, and resentment...which until then had been contained by awe and fear’ of the tsar. ‘When Russians lost respect for the government, there was nothing to hold society together.’

OVERVIEW OF SCHOOL ASSESSED COURSEWORK TASKS (SACs)

50% of your marks in History: Revolutions are derived from School Assessed Coursework tasks (SACs). These are tasks devised by your teacher to assess your level of knowledge and skill, which you will complete throughout the school year.

At the beginning of each Area of Study, your teacher should tell you the following:

- the date(s) of each SAC
- the format of each SAC
- the time you will receive to complete each SAC, and what materials are permitted
- how each SAC will be assessed
- what is required to achieve full marks on each SAC.

It is helpful to ask your teacher to provide you with sample SAC questions and exemplar responses to past SACs, but they are not necessarily required to do this.

You will complete at least four SACs in History: Revolutions, with one in each of the following formats.

HISTORICAL INQUIRY

This SAC will focus on undertaking independent historical inquiry. This means you will use a question to guide an investigation of the past, gather relevant evidence, and use that evidence to develop an argument.

Your teacher may permit you to frame your own inquiry question for this SAC. In this case, you should consult with your teacher to ensure that your question is well balanced. A question which is too broad will yield a poorly-focused report, while a question which is too narrow will prove difficult to research and answer. Strong questions for Area of Study 1 will focus on evaluating how a particular idea, individual, popular movement or event contributed to the revolution. Strong questions for Area of Study 2 will focus on evaluating how the revolutionary government responded to particular challenges, or on evaluating the degree of change and continuity experienced by a particular group in society.

ANALYSIS OF PRIMARY SOURCES

This SAC will focus on analysing primary sources about the revolution, such as transcripts of speeches, political manifestos, political cartoons, and propaganda posters. Your teacher will provide you with several primary sources, and you will be required to examine these carefully and answer a set of questions using these sources.

When working with primary sources, it is important to pose intelligent questions that help you to contextualise them and evaluate their usefulness as historical evidence. To prepare for the SAC, you might practise unpacking some sources using the method below.

GENERAL GUIDANCE FOR SACS AND EXAMS

HOW TO USE YOUR READING TIME EFFECTIVELY

Read every question twice at least. Unpack each question methodically. What is the instructional verb? (See examples below). What are the limitations on what you can discuss? (e.g. time frame, focus of questions). What is it that your teacher or the examiners are looking for, and why?

After you have read the questions, examine the sources thoroughly (where applicable). If time permits, read each written source twice, so that you don’t miss any subtle nuances or details. As you read, highlight or underline useful quotes or features of sources which you can use to support your responses.

As you read through the questions, develop mental plans for 10 and 20 mark questions. What will your main points be? What relevant facts or quotes will you use?

HOW TO UNPACK QUESTIONS

Take time to ‘listen’ to the question before thinking of the answer, rather than assuming you know what the question will be about the first time you glance at it. It is helpful to:

- read all parts of a question before beginning to answer
- read every question at least twice
- highlight the key terms of the question
- refer back to the question after you finish writing each discussion point

Well-prepared students often lose marks because they overlook or ignore requirements of the question. You need to focus on what your teacher or the examiners want you to show, not what you want to say.

Firstly, you must identify the instructional verb in each question. Following is a list of instructional verbs you may encounter in your assessment tasks, and what they require you to do:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Identify</th>
<th>Extract or list the most relevant information.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Describe</td>
<td>Give an account of the main features of a concept or source.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Outline</td>
<td>Provide a summary of the most relevant or essential points.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Compare</td>
<td>Discuss similarities and differences between two concepts or sources.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Explain</td>
<td>Provide a methodical commentary on how or why something occurred. Break your response into several steps. Offer commentary on causes, responses and outcomes.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Analyse</td>
<td>Break a concept into its components – for example, the different causes of a revolution – and explain each of them in a connected manner.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Evaluate</td>
<td>Present a judgement. Discuss strengths/merits and weaknesses/limitations, and use these to support an overall opinion.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Secondly, you need to identify the scope and limitations of the question.

Below is an example of how you can unpack a question.

Explain how War Communism contributed to the Bolshevik consolidation of power between 1918 and 1921. (10 marks)

The key verb ‘explain’ tells you that you need to develop a structured discussion that explores this concept in several steps.

Your analysis should apply your facts to the concept of consolidating power. Therefore, after giving the facts, you need to explain how this helped to consolidate the Bolsheviks’ power.

This defines the timeframe of the question. Use examples from this period (ideally some that apply throughout the whole period). You will not receive marks for content outside of this timeframe.

HOW TO MANAGE YOUR TIME

Bring a watch into all SACs and the exam and place it at the top of your table. Regularly check your watch to ensure that you don’t spend too long on one question – and thus leave yourself insufficient time to complete the rest.

You should divide your time equally between questions. For example, if you have a 100 minute SAC with questions totalling 50 marks, then for every 1 mark allocated to a question, you should devote 2 minutes of writing time. A 5-mark question would be allocated 10 minutes, while a 20-mark question would be allocated 40 minutes.

The exam has 120 minutes of writing time to complete questions totalling 80 marks. Therefore, for every 1 mark allocated to a question, you should devote 1½ minutes of writing time. This means:

Once you have reached the end of the time allocated to a question, move on to the next question. Incomplete answers still earn marks. You will achieve higher marks by giving an incomplete answer to every question on an assessment than you will if you give detailed responses to a few questions, and leave the rest blank.

If you have extra time at the end, re-read the exam paper, checking that you have answered all the questions. Re-read all your answers and add in any more points.

WHAT TO DO IF YOU RUN OUT OF TIME

If you lose track of time and have only a few minutes left, ensure that you put at least one sentence in response to each remaining question. A single relevant sentence will earn a single mark, and one mark may be enough to make a difference when determining your final Study Score for History: Revolutions.

TIPS FOR HISTORICAL WRITING

THE INGREDIENTS OF A TOP-SCORING RESPONSE

There are four ingredients in a top-scoring response in History assessments:

- KNOWLEDGE AND EVIDENCE
  - Use evidence drawn from factual knowledge (e.g. dates, events, laws, statistics), and from primary sources and historical interpretations (via quotes), where directed.
  - Gather a bank of evidence and include where directed.

- ANALYSIS
  - Analyse causes, motives, effects, responses, outcomes and significance.
  - If required by the question, offer explicit judgments.

- STRUCTURE AND CLARITY
  - Read the question carefully, and ensure that your response is tailored to its demands.
  - Open with a direct answer to the question, then use signposts throughout.

- FLUENCY
  - Read widely to appreciate good historical writing, and imitate the technique in your own responses.
  - Invite constructive criticism from peers, parents and teachers to refine your expression.

BEGINNING YOUR RESPONSE

Don’t make your reader guess where you are going, and don’t hide your answer at the bottom of the page — put the answer to the question in your first sentence!

A good opening sentence will give a direct, concise and complete answer which matches exactly what the question is asking for. Everything you write after the first sentence should simply be backing up, or elaborating upon, your original opening sentence.

Consider the following student responses to the question ‘Explain how War Communism contributed to the Bolshevik consolidation of power between 1918 and 1921.’ (10 marks)

<tr>
<td>War Communism gave the Bolsheviks control of all manufacturing and resource distribution, allowing it to meet the needs of the Soviet government and Red Army.</td>
<td>This is a strong opening sentence. The student has analysed two main themes which they will analyse in their response.</td>

<td>Under the system of War Communism, the Bolsheviks instituted grain requisitioning, state control of industry, and abolished money, which helped them smash capitalism and begin transforming Russia.</td>
<td>This is a strong opening sentence. The student has listed the examples they will examine in their response, and why these are relevant.</td>

SIGNPOSTING

To make it easy for a reader to follow your arguments, you should make active use of signposts. These are words and phrases that indicate the purpose of key sentences in your response.

- SIGNPOSTING THE START OF A NEW DISCUSSION POINT
  - Firstly,
  - Secondly,
  - Additionally,
  - Furthermore,

RESPONDING TO SOURCE ANALYSIS QUESTIONS

The wording and mark value of these questions will vary. They are likely to be worth approximately 5 marks, and are likely to focus on comprehension of key features of one or more sources. Your responses should be approximately 125 words or ½ a page in length.

Select a range of highly relevant quotes from the written sources provided, and specific features of the visual sources. Ensure that you integrate these into your response, and signpost them with phrases like ‘as shown in Source 1’. If the question asks you to use multiple sources in your response, then ensure that you select at least one discussion point from each source mentioned in the question.

Avoid including facts from your own knowledge unless the question prompts you to do so. Such extra information will be ignored by the assessor. Instead, focus on extracting all of the relevant points from the source(s) provided – select key quotes from the source(s) and explain what they mean in your own words.

EXEMPLAR RESPONSE
Using Source 1, outline the weaknesses of the Provisional Government. (5 marks)

According to Source 1, the authority of the Provisional Government was challenged by its main ‘competitor’, the Petrograd Soviet. Firstly, on 1 March 1917, Soviet Order No. 1 declared that no government orders to the military ‘were to be considered valid without the counter-signature of the Soviet’, which fundamentally undermined the government’s capacity to enforce its will or prosecute the war effort. Secondly, whereas the Soviet was elected by workers and soldiers, the Provisional Government was perceived as ‘bourgeois’ and disconnected from the needs of the masses. Thirdly, ‘popular hostility’ towards the government mounted as ‘war weariness increased’ and ‘the economic situation… deteriorated,’ as it was seen as incapable of resolving these problems. Finally, the government was challenged by radicals who demanded its overthrow and ‘All Power to the Soviets!’ (129 words)

The wording and mark value of these questions will vary. They are likely to be worth approximately 5 marks, and are likely to focus on combining evidence from the source with evidence from your own knowledge to form a clear, concise explanation. Your response should be at least 125 words or ½ a page in length.

Select at least two highly relevant quotes from the written sources provided and/or specific features of the visual sources. Ensure that you integrate these into your response, and signpost them with phrases like ‘as shown in Source 1’.

Form connections between the ideas in the source(s) and your own knowledge. You will find this easier if you use connective phrases, like those listed below.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>The source</th>
<th>…captures the idea that… Your factual knowledge</th>
<th>…reflected in the source by… The source</th>

<tr>
<td>…exemplifies the belief that…</td>
<td>…described in the source as…</td>
<td>…depicted in the image as…</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>…reflects the fact that…</td>
<td>…highlighted by the source through…</td>
<td>…but this is misleading, because…</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

For example: The Duma became increasingly dissatisfied with the tsarist regime’s inept management of the war effort, which is reflected in Source 1 by Milyukov’s question ‘Is this stupidity or is this treason?’

EXEMPLAR RESPONSE
Using the sources provided and your own knowledge, explain the extent of support for the Petrograd Soviet. (5 marks)

As noted in Source 2, the Petrograd Soviet enjoyed a strong base of popular support from ‘the Petrograd workers and soldiers.’ Each Soviet deputy was democratically elected by one of the capital’s factories or army units, and its resolutions sought to defend the interests of the poor by demanding an end to World War I, the introduction of an 8-hour work day, and redistribution of (farmland from the gentry to the peasantry. Bolshevik leader Vladimir Lenin further enhanced the appeal of the Soviet when, in his April Theses (7 April 1917), he provided a vision of a Soviet government which could immediately provide ‘Peace, Bread, and Land’ to all. The popularity of Lenin’s proposal is attested in Source 1, where it is mentioned that as ‘war weariness increased and economic conditions… deteriorated,’ more and more protesters adopted the slogan ‘All Power to the Soviets!’ (145 words)

Clear, one-sentence direct response to the question.

Quote from a written source is used to support argument, and this is clearly marked with a signpost phrase (‘as noted in source 2’).

Specific evidence from own knowledge is provided – such as descriptions of Petrograd Soviet resolutions and features of Lenin’s April Theses.

Both sources are used, as required by the question – the response ends with a link to Source 1.
On the Revolutions exam, you will be provided with a choice of questions. You must use different revolutions to answer the questions in Section A and Section B. You must not choose the same revolution for both sections.

This book contains practice questions on the Russian Revolution from both sections of the exam paper. In a real exam, you would only answer one of these sets of questions. You can see practice questions on your other revolution by purchasing the relevant Exam and Study Guide from HTAV, or by downloading past examinations from the VCAA website. You can find past exam papers, assessment reports, and a copy of the answer book on the VCAA website: http://www.vcaa.vic.edu.au/Pages/vce/studies/history/revolutions/exams.aspx

RESPONSE GUIDE

NB. The responses below are given as examples only. A variety of responses are possible.

SECTION A – QUESTION 1A (5 MARKS)

GUIDANCE: A top-scoring response to this question must provide a comprehensive overview of the relevant points in the source, and should illustrate this with a range of short, direct quotes from Source 1. Do not include specific facts from your own knowledge on this question, or refer to Source 2.

SAMPLE RESPONSE: In Source 1, Lenin denounces the Provisional Government for its failure to provide solutions to the problems facing Russia. Firstly, Lenin says that the government is failing to address popular grievances and taking too long to convene the Constituent Assembly; in the source, he mocks the government for ‘ask[ing] you to “be patient” instead of providing immediate solutions. Secondly, Lenin denounces the government for its support of what he calls the ‘imperialist’ war, saying the soldiers ‘are not willing to fight for the interests of the capitalists.’ Thirdly, he says that the soldiers are ‘tired,’ ‘barefooted’ and ‘starving,’ and the government has failed to provide them with peace. Finally, Lenin denounces the government for refusing to redistribute the gentry’s land to the peasants, saying that the ‘land has…been withheld’ from them. (151 words)

SECTION A – QUESTION 1B (5 MARKS)

GUIDANCE: A top-scoring response to this question must provide a comprehensive overview of the relevant points in the source, and should illustrate this with a range of short, direct quotes from Source 2.

SAMPLE RESPONSE: Vladimir Lenin’s ideas and leadership generated widespread popularity for the Bolshevik party, and were instrumental in the party seizing power in October 1917. The appeal of Lenin’s ideas and leadership are clearly shown in Source 1, where he promises that ‘immediately in hands of the Soviets,’ then a Soviet Government will ‘immediately…offer just peace to all’ and immediately declare the gentry’s land to be ‘inalienable property of the whole people;’ Lenin’s slogan of ‘Peace, Bread, Land’ generated widespread support from workers, soldiers and peasants, causing the Bolshevik party to grow to 350,000 members by October. Therefore, as historian Ronald Suny argues, Lenin’s rhetoric and plans secured a broad appeal and put the Bolsheviks at the head of a genuinely popular movement, ‘putting them in a clear position of strength by October, and enabling their seizure of power.

Lenin also skillfully exploited the unpopularity of the Provisional Government. In his April Theses, Lenin resolved that there was to be ‘no support for the Provisional Government,’ and the falsity of its promises must be made clear.’ This is why, as Fitzpatrick notes in Source 2, the Bolsheviks remained ‘uncompromised by association’ with the government, whereas the Mensheviks and SRs lost supporters due to their support for the increasingly unpopular war effort. This reflects the argument of historian Orlando Figes, that it was the war effort which ‘saw the soldiers to the Bolsheviks’ as Lenin’s party was the only one ‘which stood uncompromisingly for an immediate end to the war.’

In addition to securing popular support for the party, Lenin showed strong leadership when he instigated the Bolsheviks’ seizure of power. In September 1917, he told the Central Committee that ‘the Bolsheviks can and must seize state power,’ saying, ‘history will not forgive us if we do not seize power now.’ Lenin overcame the doubts of other party leaders and convinced them to conduct a coup d’état, rather than relying on democratic methods. The importance of Lenin in persuading the party to act is confirmed by Leon Trotsky, who argued that, ‘If neither Lenin nor I had been present in Petrograd, there would have been no October Revolution,’ as the party leadership lacked Lenin’s confidence in final victory over the government. Historian Richard Pipes argues, arguing that Lenin carried out a highly successful ‘coup d’état’ and that the success of the Bolsheviks owed to his ‘superior organisation and greater ruthlessness.’ This confirms that Lenin’s ideas and leadership were instrumental to the October Revolution. (414 words)

SECTION A – QUESTION 1C (10 MARKS)

GUIDANCE: A top-scoring response to this question must analyse a range of ways in which Lenin’s ideas and leadership can be seen as contributing to the October Revolution. It will be supported by direct quotes which illustrate the views of contemporary figures or leading historians on this issue, and it will be supported by short, direct quotes from both written sources provided. There is no required structure, but it is important to organise your ideas clearly and logically.
