Stay current with developments in your subject area

Professional learning in your subject area is essential to maintaining an effective and engaging teaching practise. It equips you with depth of knowledge, skill refinement and the tools and language to advocate for your teaching choices, your subject and your students.

HTAV events are facilitated by presenters who are knowledgeable and experienced History teachers and historians, sharing the latest pedagogical strategies and research findings. Through HTAV, History teachers can discover new teaching materials and assessment approaches that enrich lessons and enhance student engagement. You'll leave with practical tools and ideas to implement immediately in your classroom.

HTAV also provides an opportunity to connect with peers, share experiences and collaborate on best practises. It's a supportive environment where teachers can discuss challenges, celebrate successes and gain inspiration from one another.

For many teachers, subject-specific professional learning is not available through their schools, making it even more important to engage with opportunities like those offered by HTAV. Investing in your professional growth ensures you continue to develop as a teacher.

Take the next step toward becoming the best teacher you can be.

Through HTAV, History teachers can confidently address AITSL Standards:

- 2 Know the content and how to teach it
- 6 Engage in professional learning
- 7 Engage professionally with colleagues and the community

Making it easier to meet AITSL
Standards
